

Republic of the Philippines
Bicol University
POLANGUI CAMPUS
Polangui, Albay

Phase 1: Comprehensive Planning and Architecture Design

Title: NextGen Hardware

ENTITY RELATIONSHIP DIAGRAM

1. Entities and Attributes

Each blue box represents the entity, and lines describe the relationships between these entities.

- Customer: Stores user details.
- Orders: Represents customer purchases.
- Product: Stores product details.
- Category: Categorizes products.
- Order Details: A bridge table linking orders and products.
- Payment: Stores payment transactions.
- Shipments: Tracks deliveries.
- Supplier: Stores supplier details.

2. Relationships and Cardinality

- Customer → Order (1:N)
 - One user can place multiple orders.
 - One order belongs to one user.
 - (Customer.customer_id → Order.customer_id)
- Order → OrderDetails (1:N)
 - One order can have multiple order details.
 - One order detail belongs to one order.
 - (Order.order_id → OrderDetails.order_id)
- Category → Product (1:N)
 - Each product belongs to one category.
 - (Category.category_id → Product.category_id)
- OrderDetails → Product (N:1)
 - Each order detail references a single product, but a product can be in multiple orders.
 - (OrderDetails.product_id → Product.product_id)
- Order → Payment (1:1)
 - One order has one payment.
 - One payment is linked to one order.

- (Order.order_id → Payment.order_id)

- Order → Shipment (1:1)

- One order has one shipment.
- One shipment is linked to one order.
- (Order.order_id → Shipment.order_id)

- Supplier → Product (1:N)

- One supplier can supply multiple products.
- One product is supplied by one supplier.
- (Supplier.supplier_id → Product.supplier_id)